FINANCING MINING AS AN INDUSTRY AND A GAMBLE

ByLetson Balliet, Mining Engineer

Leaving out of consideration the owners and operators of mines that have been financed and are now self sustaining and productive, there is no problem more vital to mining, and to claim owners, stock buyers, dealers in mine supplies and machinery than that of developing veins and ore bodies into new mines.

"Mining," is the participle form of the verb "to mine", therefore it consists of moving a body f metallic ore from the place where nature put it, to a place where mankind can use it. That is an engineering job, not greatly different from diggin a subway, or a railroad tunnel. The moving job, might be looked upon as a contract, and should be figured at a cost per ton for the moving. Prequalifications and equipment are important factors in the cost of the operations. But developing a prospect, to make it ready for the ore moving, costs lots of money, even after the place has been found where old Mother Nature has deposited a body of commercial ore. Exploring to ascertain how big it is, and its average value per ton costs plenty of money, before the developing begins.

Where is the exploration money to come from? How can it be secured or raised? These are questions that must be answered in the case of every new mine that is brought into production. There are but two sources of money available. The owner of the mining ground must turn it over to, or secure the backing of capital, or he must appeal to the public to aggregate their small investments into a large sum for working capital.

American industry has passed quite extensively from capitalistic ownership to public ownership, through the medium of the joint stock company. The major oil companies, the railroads, telephones, telegraph and power companies have through the sale of stocks to employees, and to the public as well as to their own patrons, distributed their owenrship among hundreds of thousands of stockholders. In giant industries the required capital is too large for even capitalists to handle without calling on the public and sharing the profits with them.

Abuse of Promotion Privileges

Of course, with the door wide open —permitting any one to "get up a company" for gathering public money—we can expect to have ambitious immitators, incompetent, ill-advised, as well as willfully nefariuos cunterfeiters, rush into the business. It is the abuse of the open door, and not the use of it that has put an atmosphere of doubt and suspicion on the work of the stock company promoter.

The man with the legitimate project, (not alone in mining) must overcome the "sales resistance" that abuses have created. You may call it prjudice, suspicion, doubt, lack of confidence, or whatever you like, but it is the abouse of stock selling privileges that has created an atmosphere of "sales resistance".

The salesman, or promoter who can beget confidence and overcome it may be successful in his project but he has not cleared the atmosphere for others.

Many warning have been given, to "investigate before investing" and those who have been successful in their selections have heeded it, but there is one littl quirk in human nature—to "take a chance"—that has prevented the multitude from investigating. The same quirk of nature, makes it possible for lotteries, race track gambling, and the stock markets to exist. There are touts, press agents, boosters, cappers and floor men whispering advice and citing examples of big winnings, in all games of chance. They excite the cupidity and desire for "gambling profits". Stocks are boosted up in price over a single night, without any change in production, contracts, plans, or a word of information coming from the scene of operations. Also they are caused to drop in price If the industry has no change why should the stock be worth more or less, in the morning than it was the night before? Gambling. Supply and demand.

MOTHER LODE MINE YIELDING CONCENTRATES RICH IN GOLD

A gold mine on the east belt of the Mother Lode in Amador county is making successful runs in its pilot mill after testing and adjustments. Besides free gold recovered by amalgamation the mill is turning out two grades of cncentrates.

Mill heads vary from $33.90 per ton to $57.88. Running on the highest grade the first grade concentrate assayed $250.89 per ton; on ore assaying $33.90 the concentrate had a value of $77.72 besides two to three per cent copper.

The mine has produced a considerable quantity of ore of shipping grade and is only opened to a depth of 100 feet. Manager C. R. Murdoch plans to deepen the shaft. Occurrence of ore at depth has been demonstrated in the nearby Defender mine, located on a parallel fissure.

The stock is listed on the San Francisco Mining Exchange and has been approved for trading by the corporation commissioner.

RISING HOPE MINE YIELDS FINE RETURNS

At Placerville the Aladdin Gold Mines Co. is washing twenty-five to thirty yards of gravel daily from the Rising Hope property which yields $3 to $4 a yard while the main tunnel is being driven ahead to get under the bench on one side of the stream and facilitate extraction. Raises will be put up from the tunnel and the gravel mined will be dropped through chutes and trammed outside to the washing plant.

The tunnel through which the channel is reached has been put in good repair with new ties laid and the gravel is hauled out by an electric locomotive. The adit is 2,600 feet long and passes under the main channel and along the bench of the old river. A short crosscut will be driven to a point directly beneath the river bed and raises will be run to bedrock.

There are several thousand yards of gravel available for washing on the benches of the channel, opened in the old workings by raises from the tunnel. Two power drills are employed in advancing the tunnel and raises will be put up as the ground is opened.

While the bench gravel is of high average grade, the gravel on bedrock is much richer. C. E. Collins, superintendent of operations, says that winzes were sunk from the upper tunnel when the mine was first worked on opposite banks of the river to the bottom. According to a miner who worked in the winzes they were in rich gravel all the way but water flowing on the bed of the stream prevented mining.

The washing plant has a capacity of 450 yards a day and besides the gold recovered in the gravel catches a black sand containing fine gold to the extent of $200 to $400 a ton. A process is now being worked out to extract the gold from the sand.

The Rising Hope property is on the Deep Blue Run channel which gathered its store of gold thousands of years ago from the Mother Lode, geologists say. It comprises 385 acres extending for over a mile along the course of the old river, long ago sealed by lava flows. Extensive workings in the upper tunnel, 68 feet above the transportation adit, indicate that 300 acres contain gold, with the bench gravel averaging six feet in thickness.

NEWLYWEDS HONORED AT BRIDES PARENTAL HOME

Mr. and Mrs. W. Whitford of Grass Valley entertained recently at a wedding supper in honor of their newly marrid daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Moody.

The newly weds received many beautiful gifts from the nineteen guests present including: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sauvee, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Sauvee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Meyers, Miss Peggy Moody, Alton Moody Charles Moody, Mr. and Mrs. K. Lewis, Miss Colleen Lewis, A. McCabe, Ray Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W. Whitford Mrs, Simon Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Moody.

NEW OWNERS OF THE NUGGET OFFER SALUTATORY

On November 26, 1926 Arthur A. Willoughby and his wife, Elsie P. Willoughby, printed and offered to the citizens of this city the first issue of The Nevada City Nugget.

With a fine spirit of appreciation for courtesies extended by the residents of the city, and for the generous subscription list which had already been placed on the books, for the hearty cooperation promised by the prospective advertisers interviewed, Mr. Willoughby wrote a stirring salutatory and promised a newspaper which would, if met with the support and patronage necessary, be a source of pride to the community in general and to the city in particular. In one paragraph he said, "The Nugget wants to take its place as a going institution in the community. It wants to deserve the town's printing and publishing as far as it is physically able to perform such functions". How well he kept his word, how splendidly the people responded is attested today by the regularity of the patronage of the advertising space and by the 920 subscribers who look forward each week to receiving their own home town paper, printed in the interest of their own community and giving to each and every new enterprise its wholehearted and willing support, and aiding in every way the legitimate businesses already in operation.

The Nugget was placed on a solid foundation and has gained a steady and dignified growth, through the continued and unflagging efforts and courage of the Willoughbys.

On June 1, 1926 after a brief illness, occurred the untimely death of Mr. Willoughby, and though the family and the entire community was shocked and deeply grieved, not an issue of the paper was missed, no part of the general news omitted and all through the terrible siege of grief and trouble and an automobile accident in which Mrs. Willoughby was seriously injured and forced to spend several weeks in the hospital, the paper was regularly issued through her direction from a bed of illness.

After giving the matter serious thought and realizing a mother's duty toward her young children, Mrs. Willoughby at last decided to sell The Nugget, and Mr. and Mrs. Ficon, former friends and business associates of the family, were fortunate in being in a position to buy the plant and paper. The deal was made last week in time for the new owners to help publish the issue for September 1st. This week will be the real beginning for us and if news which should be of interst is omitted it will not be done intentionally and this statement holds good in all future issues. We believe, as Mr. Willoughby did, that all business people in any community realize the need of their own organ of publicity, printed within the confines of their own city and will willingly co-operate with their servants, the publishers, to keep the good work going right on.

We wish to offer greetings to the residents of this beautiful little city and we hope to keep for The Nugget the friendly good will and fair amount of patronage which now exists in so large a measure and in return we will ever be found ready and willing to give publicity wherever publicity will help.

To publish the news we must have the cooperation of those participating in any thing which will be of interest to the public. If you are giving a party tell us about it. If you attended a party or lodge meeting, committee meeting, club or lecture tell us about it. Just the high lights and we will do the rest. Do you wish to boost a new enterprise or revive an old one tell us or write the article. We will use any thing which is fair, square, and for the good of the community.

A change in the day of issuing the paper might be considered a little later, but otherwise the policy now observed will be followed with mining news taking first place as heretofore.

Cordially,

THOMAS and ALMA FICON.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS HOLD SEPTEMBER SESSION

Monday being a legal holiday the Board of Supervisors held its regular September meeting Tuesday of last week.

Frank M. Wilson, representing the Hobart Mills Automobile Club, appeared before the board to thank them for the action taken in regard to road matters at Hobart. Last fall the club asked for aid in road work and the board took effective action which the people of that section greatly appreciate.

Only routine matters were discussed. Bills for election officers, supplies, etc., in the recent election were ordered paid.

EASTERN CAPITAL TO DEVELOP LOCAL MINES

Nevada City and Grass Valley are due to receive a new impetus in mining activity in the development, in the near future, of a group of noted gold mines near both towns.

The Consolidated Syndicate Mines Corporation Ltd. incorporated last week with a capital of $10,000,000.

Property of the company embraces the old Champion mine, once operated by the North Star Co., the Central Cons. and New England groups at Nevada City and the Norambagua property in the Grass Valley district. The New England mine, just outside the town of Nevada City, is equipped with a 60-ton pilot mill which employs the murcuric cyanide process and has been operated on ore from the New England and other mines of the district.

The New England vein dips about 35 degrees and is opened by an incline shaft to the 1,000 foot level. The vein averages about two and a half feet in width and has been mined down to the 900 level. At the 900 three feet of ore shows in the bottom of th drift containing $35 to $40 a ton in gold. This orebody is going down strong and will be explored on lower levels. A larger hoist and other equipment will be put in and the shaft will be sunk 500 feet deeper. The New England is across a narrow valley northwest of the Murchie which is dropping 20 stamps on gold ore.

The Central Consolidated property covers three veins, the Banner, Arctic and Central, all of which have been highly productive. Machinery will be installed at the Central Cons. tunnel and the adit will be advanced 1200 feet from the present length of 1800, to the Banner mine. In the Banner three veins, the Banner, Central Cons. and Arctic join on their strike and this point is the objective.

The Central Consolidated tunnel was driven 1600 feet on the Central vein, a large part of the way in ore, and from the present face will follow the Central vein into unexplored ground. There are two shafts on the vein, sunk 400 feet below the adit level, which are to be deepened. The tunnel gives 300 feet of backs on the vein.

Oragnization of the Consolidated Syndocate Mines Corporation, Ltd., is the culmination of plans long under way to acquire and develop these mines wnich lie in tne heart of one of the richest gold districts of the west. Incorporation followed immediately the return from New York of President Archibald where the company was financed.

Archibald says there is renewed activity in gold mining in Nevada county and several mines there are producing. The Murchie is breaking ore from five faces and operates a flotation mill, shipping concentrates to the Selby smelter of the American Smelting & Refining Co. on San Francisco bay.

Two or three carloads of ore have been shipped recently by the Hoge Development near Nevada City which is said to average $80 to $90 a ton from a vein on the 300 level. O. E. Schiffner of Nevada is superintendent of the Hoge and directed exploratory work.

A new strike has been made in the Boundary mine at Grass Valley, Archibald said. News of this strike reached him just before departure for Reno and the report was that three feet of ore had been struck. The mine is in the residntial district of Grass Valley.

The corporation succeeds the New England Consolidated Mines and will be financed by New York and New England capital. A. R. Archibald of the New England Cons. will be president and managing director, R. F. D. LeMon of New York vice president and S. D. Stoufer, Grass Valley, secretary-treasurer.

H. M. Cooper of Auburn, division manager for the P. G. & E. and D. C. Stewart of Grass Valley, local agent for the same company were callers at The Nugget office Saturday.

MAYFLOWER REOPENE WITH BOOM SATUR

Preparations for re-opening o tions on the Mayflower mine a ada Hill near here was complete urday afternoon and twelve m of powder fired to signal the which has been preceded by a summer "get ready" campaign

The Mayflower is under m management of H. A. Hood of Francisco who is also engage mining in the Rubison country Placer county.

Lately Mr. Hood concentrated efforts in bringing the Mayflowe its present point of development recently brought in surveyors engineers from San Francisco both this and his Placer prop ties.

A crew of men was put to w Saturday on the 400 level to sin shaft on the Greenman vein drift in several crosscuts. Th promising quartz veins are in si and manager James L. Lewis loo forward to a definite production d ing the next few months.

The Mayflower consists of claims.

Installation of electric pow at the Grass Valley-Boreham G mine to operate a new hoist, pu and compressor, is proving of wo derful value and it is the expectati now entertained by A. O. Witte Los Angeles, president of the mi and workmen engaged in sinking t shafts to reach a depth of 350 feet b fore drifting on a large 10-foot ve Reports Saturday were that they w now 40 feet below a 200 level a working fast.

Mr. Witte stated that a second shi would probably be placed at th Boreham mine next week to furthe expediate the sinking. The equipmen at th mine is sufficient to drive to depth of 2500 feet and from a pros pect the mine is now established i the gold mining class.

An outstanding 10-foot quart vein, leading north toward the or shoots of the famous Merrimac min has been encountered and the work men are now driving on that with the expectation of meeting with the shoots before reaching the final depth.

The ten-foot quartz vein was a source of surprise to experienced mining men of the district who had never expcted to find such a vein in the Grass Valley mining district. A ten-stamp mill is en route to Grass Valley and will be placed in operation soon, meanwhile great quantities of pure quartz ore showing free gold are waiting the installation of the mill.

MRS. JANE RICHARDS IS CALLED BY DEATH

Death came gently to Mrs. Jane Richards Sunday morning at 6:30 at her home in this city.

The estimable and aged lady had been an invalid for many years past and her last severe illness was of only one week's duration. Her daughter, Miss Annie Richards and two of her sons, John and W. H. Richards, were with her when she slipped quietly away as one falling asleep.

Mrs. Richards was born in England, June 20, 1850, coming to America in her youth. She has resided in Nevada City continuously since 1884. Her husband, John Richards, died in 1904 and since that time her daughter, Annie, and son, John, have continued to reside with her.

A woman of strong and lovely christian character, devoted to her home and family, she held the love and respct of all with whom she came in contact, and though, as before stated, she has been an invalid for many years her contact with friends and relatives in her own home has been extremely pleasant.

Relatives at a distance are two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, residing in England, and Mrs. Mary Trehewey of Newark, New Jersey, and a son, Tom Richards, who resides with his family in San Francisco. Another sister, the late Mrs. Rowe of Grass Valley, had resided for years in Grass valley.

Funeral services will be held at the family residence 504 Zion street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock Reverend Buckner of the Nevada City Methodist church, will conduct the services.

The Holmes Funeral Home is in charge.

VADA COUNTY RODEO AT PEARDALE NEXT SUNDAY

ans for the Nevada County Ro- to be held at Peardale next Sun- are being pushed by the commit- under the leadership of Fred Bier- ggen, President of Peardale Farm nter. This entire week is being nt in improving the grounds, ar- nging for the various events sched- d, and constructing accommoda- ns for the many visitors.

The barbacue promises to be an traction to those who have par- ken of such meals. On the menu e many delicies planned as a fit- ng accompaniment to prime steer rbecue style. Walter Parsons will ct as head cook and will supervise he construction of the cooking pit nd the preparing of the meat.

The stock for the rodeo is being rounded up by a committee headed by Louis Le Duc and Ed Granholm. These men promise a good lot of "hard to ride" horses and steers. They have gotten their stock from several counties and several of the horses coming bring with them the reputation of never having been conquered. One horse enterd as a hard on has never been brokn to lead or ride.

The morning program which will consist of a baseball game between the Nevada City Blues and the Grass Valley All Stars, will decide an argument that has been in progress all summer. These teams have met four times and to date each has won two games. This game will be the final and deciding game. The baseball fans will no doubt take advantage of this opportunity to see these two outfits when they "play ball" at ten thirty.

A varied prram to suit all who attend is desired by the committee who are arranging for a dance in the new Peardale Hall ,several bull dogging events, calf-tying and steer riding. The wide scope of the entertainment will no doubt be the incentive for a arge attendance and with this in mind the committee will be prepared to take care of a thousand people.

GRAND PRESIDENT VISITS LOCAL PARLOR N. D. G. W.

One of the outstanding events of the season took place here Wednesday vening when sixty-nine Native Daughters gathered at the National Hotel to greet Grand President Estelle Evans of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Evans was honored by a formal dinner presided over by Mrs. Mathilde Schmidt, president of Laurel Parlor, Manzanita Parlor No. 29 and other parlors from different parts of the state were represented.

Mrs. Schmidt as toast master proved herself past master in the art and the program which followed the sumptuous repast, which had been prepared by Manager and Mrs. Worth, was one of real merit and consisted of short talks, toasts and songs. The delightful informality of it all, lending a spirit of friendliness and goodfellow ship which was highly enjoyable.

Grand President Mrs. Evans was introduced by Mrs. Schmidt and gave a short interesitng talk, punctuated by a vein of irresistable wit and humor which elicited rounds of applause and laughter.

Others making talks during the evening were, Past Grand President Eshter Sullivan of Marysville; Junior Past President Louise C. Heilbron of Sacramento; Past Grand President Alison Watt of Grass Valley; Mrs. Ovaline Penrose, of Laurel Parlor, district deputy for Manazanita Parlor, and Mrs. Beulah Coombs of Manzanita Parlor, district deputy for Laurel Parlor.

At the close of the dinner session the adjournment was made to the Laurel Parlor and a regular meeting held. A new member, Miss Eugenie Wright, daughter of District Attorney and Mrs. Wright journeyed from San Francisco, where she attends college, to be initiated during the visit of the Grand President.

The beautiful ritualistic ceremony of initiation was so well exemplified that Mrs. Evans complimented the members highly on this work.

In her address to the representative from various parlors Mrs. Evans reviewed the work of the order throughout the state and gave a brief resume of the various activities of the order.

During a brief interlude Mrs. Schmidt, on behalf of the Laurel Parlor ,presented Mrs. Evans a beautiful gift which was received with graceful words of thanks.

Lovely boquets of seasonable flowers were presented to Junior Past Grand President Louise C. Heilbron, Past Grand Presidents Watt and Sullivan, Grand Trustee Mrs. Brainerd of Sacramento and District Deputies Penrose and Coombs.

Three past grand presidents and a grand trustee of the order present is a notable item.

Mongol Never Hurried

Caravans cannot be hurried, for the Mongol takes his own time. Centuries of experience have taught him how much a camel can successfully do, and he will not push his animals beyond their endurance. Camel caravans can penetrate to every nook and corner of Mongolia, bringing out valuable products for export. The Mongol camel puller will guide his caravan straight across the plain to any desired destination and there pack his loads and take good care of them, but often he will be a year, or two or three years, bringing in the goods.—Frans August Larson's "Horses and Business" in Atlantic Monthly.

ANOTHER SCRAP TO WORRY BOULDER DA

And now contention has ari in the matter of the construction a highway to the site of Boul Dam. Where shall the money co from to build it? Some have sugge ed diverting appropriations alrea made for the completion of the hig way from Goldfield through th Westgard pass to join the highwa in Owens Valley, California. Th communities from both Owens Va ley and Tonopah, both firmly an vigorously oppose this proposal an without doubt are perfectly right i their objection. Boulder Dam is federal government project, and ow ing to this fact Dr. Elwood Mead commissioner of the reclamatio service, in a letter to Senator Oddi expressed the opinion that funds ma be rightfully drawn from an appro priation under the Oddie-Colton pub lic domain highway act. The highwa under consideration is a very neces sary part of the project and should in the opinion of those high i authority on such subjects, be built by the federal government.

you want a cigarette that is milder and of better taste..

Smoke Chesterfield

MILDER, YES—BUT SOMETHING MORE. Chesterfield offers richness, aroma, satisfying flavor.

BETTER TASTE—that's the answer; and that's what smokers get in Chesterfield in fullest measure—the flavor and aroma of mellow tobaccos, exactly blended and cross-blended. Better taste, and milder too!

DR. JONES IS SUED FOR MALICIOUS PERSECUTION

Suit was commencer in the superior court by Dr. Ormiston Swazey of Nevada City against Dr. Carl P. Jones of Grass Valley in which the sum of $25,000 in damages is sought.

The basis of the action is the arrest of the plaintiff upon the complaint of defendant last November on a charge at the failure of Dr. Swayze to report to Dr. Jones, as cunty health officer ,an alleged case of infectious disease attended professionally by Swayz.

The defendant was tried on February 13, 1930, and the trial resulted in the acquittal of the defendant, Dr. Swayze by a jury.

The plaintiff has secured the services of Attorneys Harry M. McKee and Vincent Surr.

CITY TRUSTEES HOLD THEIR MONTHLY MEETING

At a meeting of the City Trustees Thursday evening, presided over by Mayor R. J. Bennetts, and attended by every member it was unanimously decided, that at some date to be decided upon later, a special election would be called to authorize the expenditure of the "Swimming Pool" bond money for street and sewer improvements.

This money can be used for no other purpose than that for which it was voted by the voters at the special election unless the voters at another election by a two thirds vote authorize its expenditure for other purposes.

The $10,000 bond issue was made, the bonds sold and the money is in the bank, but after months of discussion and even though a suitable site for the pool selected, the project has not been carried out because it was found that a further tax levy would be necessary for maintenance after the pool was constructed.

Much deliberation has brought many to the point where they think this money could be used to better advantage for sewer and street improvments.

The bonds were sold and the money is now in the bank. Of the $10,000 bond issue $2000 worth of bonds have matured and have been paid and another $500 bond will be paid this year. The city is paying 5 percent interest on the bond and receiving only two per cent interest on the money which is on deposit. This is the rate allowed by the state law on public funds deposited in bank, thus the city is annually losing three per cent interest on the money.

The date of holding the election will be determined at a future meeting after the board has received the advice of city attorney, Judge F. T. Nilon, as to the necessary legal procedure.

The board also decided to have the city hall painted from sidewalk to the peak of the roof.

The following claims against the city were found due and ordered paid

CONG. ENGLEBRIGHT ON EASTERN TOUR

Congressman H. L. Englebright and Mrs. Englebright left Friday evening for a visit in Columbus, Ohio. In that city Englebright will represent the Great Council of California Redmen at the Supreme Council of the United States to be held there next week. Englebright is a past great sachem of the order in California. After the session of the Great Council the congressman and his wife will journey to Cincinnati, Ohio, to attend a road conference of congressmen from the middle west and western states with representatives from the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.

The west and middle west are struggling for concerted action regarding road appropriations, which would be beneficial to all, and the object of this meeting is to bring about a united effort on a course of action to be follwed during the year of 1931.

C. BETTEGA WANDERING NEAR YOU BET

Tired out hungry and footsore, C. Bettega who wandered from his home last Saturday, was found Tues, day evening within five miles of his home, by Elmer Poore, who was accompanied by M. Solari of Grass Valley.

Mr. Poore was indefatigable in his search for the lost man and his knowledge of woodlore was of great value to him as tracks and broken twigs furnished the clues which finally led to the discovery.

The old man was found on the Brady ranch in the You Bet section and his abstinence from food for three days had caused him to be in a dazed and weakened condition when found and it was found necessary to take him to Grass Valley for medical treatment.
